The Strangest, Wildest, and Most Luxurious Valentine's Day Hotel Packages

Think: skywriting, caviar, and Flo Rida.

TRAVEL + LEISURE STAFF JANUARY 31, 2018

This time of year, hotels around the world get serious about going above and beyond for Valentine's Day, crafting spectacular (or spectacularly strange) packages that push the limits of luxury and, occasionally, common sense.

At Travel + Leisure, we love to sift through all the options —particularly the wild and over-the-top offers — to help you plan your most romantic getaway ever.

Some of these Valentine's Day hotel packages are decadent, others provocative, and all of them guaranteed to make you blush, at least a little. And isn't that Valentine's Day in a nutshell?

We love these 18 luxury properties — and their determination to help you celebrate love in your own, extravagant way.

Nicholas James

Talbott Hotel in Chicago, Illinois

Throughout the month of February, this hotel in Chicago's Gold Coast neighborhood will help you relive your very first date with your significant other — or, at least, the good parts. The culinary team at the property's 20 East restaurant will cook the meal from your first dinner before you awkwardly ask your boo if they want to get a drink back at your place. From $229.
